PENSACOLA, FEB. 10, 1900.

The Tampa Herald proposes to recoup itself for the rise in the price of paper by cutting off certain of its exchanges, and declares that "this is the only answer this or any other paper can make to the robbery of which it is the victim." The Herald should not despair. The list of victims includes every republican, as well as every democratic newspaper in the country, and the appeal to the pockets of their publishers will be practically irresistible. They may not relish the dilemma of suffering personal loss or advocating the repeal of the Dingley tariff on paper and paper materials, but when the issue is fairly made up they will scarcely hesitate.

The custom of the house of representatives to hold Friday night sessions for the consideration of pension bills, at which the attendance is ridiculously small, and such bills are passed without a quorum, is an assumption of power so arbitrary, and freighted with such injurious results, that it is a wonder no member has heretofore protested against it. At the last session of this kind Mr. Talbot of South Carolina gave notice that hereafter he would demand a quorum in every such case. Among other things he said was the following:

The abuse must stop. Innocent people will be hurt possibly, but that will only accentuate the responsibility. I demand a quorum. If the house is without a quorum I shall ask an immediate adjournment. If that is refused, I shall insist that the house exhaust its power to secure a quorum. I believe the pension laws are sufficiently liberal to pension any deserving soldier or widow, and I am opposed to sitting here every Friday night as a court of appeals to pass special cases which have been refused by the pension bureau. If it is to be done, there must be a quorum.

Through the courtesy of Colonel W. W. Scrivens of the Montgomery Advertiser we have been furnished with a copy of a leaflet setting forth the purpose and scope of the interstate conference to be held in that city May 8 & 10, to consider the various phases of the race problem. The promoters of the movement point out that in most previous debates on the race questions the ideas of residents of the North, unacquainted with the true conditions, have prevailed, and that it is time the sentiments of wise and conservative southerners should be collected and diffused. The leaflet contains the following extract from the constitution proposed for the society that will be organized at the meeting:

The object of this society shall be to furnish by means of correspondence, publication and particularly through public conferences, an organ for the expression of the varied and even antagonistic convictions of representative southern men on the problem growing out of the race conditions obtaining in the south; and thus to secure a broader education of the public mind as to the facts of the situation, and a better understanding of the remedies for existing evils.

Opposition to the Canal.

Quoting a vicious sneer from the Baltimore American about the impracticability of constructing the Nicaragua canal, the Times-Union and Citizen says:

Let us know what is the true objection to the canal—we have only noted the facts and arguments in its favor. We know the canal will change some established routes—southern ports will immediately be favored somewhat at the cost of others, but shall this avenue to stop a great national development and necessity of our nation? Of course, the transcontinental roads will lose heavy freight, but shall we sacrifice greater interests to them? If these be the objections, why do not the objectors bring them forward?

Besides the natural jealousy of the Atlantic ports, aroused by the prospect of increased export trade, at their expense, through the Gulf ports, the principal objections to the enterprise come from the transcontinental railroad interests—applying to any canal across the isthmus—and the American syndicate which recently obtained control of the Panama canal wreck, with the purpose of monopolizing it upon the government as a substitute for the Nicaragua route. Whether these individuals, organizations and newspapers in the Atlantic ports are inclined to join these elements of opposition, in the hope of defeating the enterprise, and thus retaining their hold upon the foreign export trade of the country, has not yet fully appeared, but the outburst of the Baltimore newspaper referred to indicates that they are ready and willing to prevent, if they can, the construction of any canal that would contribute to the injury of their export trade.

One curious feature of the public discussion of the several questions involved in the consummation of the Nicaragua enterprise is the fact that some southern newspapers which have for years been demanding the canal, and bawling the obstacles presented to its construction by the Clayton-Bulwer treaty, now that the supplementary treaty has removed those obstacles are furious over its terms, which they declare are disgraceful and humiliating.

Remarkable Rescue.

Mrs. Michael Curtin, Plainfield, Ill., makes the statement that she caught cold, which settled on her lungs; she was treated for a month by her family physician, but grew worse. He told her she was a hopeless victim of consumption and that no medicine could cure her. Her druggist suggested Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption; she bought a bottle and to her delight found herself benefited from first dose. She continued its use and after taking six bottles, found herself sound and well, now does her own housework and is as well as ever was. Free trial bottles of this Great Discovery at W. A. D'Alemberte's Drug Store, large bottles 50 cents and $1.00.

SOCIETY EVENTS OF THE WEEK.

The Dewey Euchre club met at the home of Mrs. Fred Gillmore on Gregory street Saturday afternoon of last week. The club is quite small at present, but the ladies manage to find great enjoyment still in a few games of euchre once a week. The first prize was won by Miss Piaggio, a bottle of extract; second prize was given to Mrs. DeSilva, a very dainty handkerchief; the booby prize was presented to Miss Celia Robinson, "a devil," which, in this case, is more ornamental than terrible.

Monday evening an extra german was held at Hotel Escambia. Twenty-two couples were present. Although at the opera house a very attractive play was presented, only three couples found it sufficient inducement to forego, even for a part of the evening, the pleasures of the dance. Those present were:

Miss Mary Chaffin, of Milton, and A. A. Brooks.

Miss Nellie Mallory and S. M. Cross.

Miss Reisinger and Robert A. French.

Miss DeVine, of California, and Henry Hver.

Miss Hatch, of Ramblers' Rest, and H. D. C. Kessler.

Miss Julie D. Sullivan and R. H. Turner.

Miss Harriet Cross and J. S. McGanghey.

The Ladies' Thursday Afternoon Euchre club was most delightfully entertained by Miss Nellie Barrow Tuesday evening, gentlemen being invited to join the ladies on this occasion, therefore making the time pass more pleasantly. The ladies first prize was presented to Miss Davis, a lovely belt buckle; the consolation was won by Mrs. Andersen, silver turtle, pin; the gentleman's first prize was given to Mr. R. L. Cross, a hand painted blotter; the consolation was won by Mr. John Creary, a hand painted shell. Delicious refreshments were served after the cards.

Wednesday at St. Katherine's chapel, Miss Georgia F. Smith and Mr. Oliver James were united in marriage by the Rev. Mr. W. K. Bicknell. At the hour appointed Mr. Bicknell appeared upon the altar, the groom and his best man, Mr. Raphael Semmes, standing upon his left. In a few moments the doors were thrown open and the bridal party walked up the aisle, preceded by the two ushers, Messrs. James C. Watson and Munro Cross. First Miss Bertie Smith as maid of honor, costumed in bronze green and crimson, carrying an exquisite shower bouquet of Marchal Neill roses, followed by little Nellie Keyser, making a lovely flower girl in dainty dress of white silk and hat to match, carrying a basket of pink carnations. Master Clarence Avery, bearing upon a white satin pillow the white prayer book from which the sacred ceremony was to be read, then came the lovely bride, gowned in a most charming costume of pale gray, with turquoise blue trimmings and hat to match, carrying a beautiful bouquet of bride roses and ferns, leading upon the arm of her cousin, Judge John C. Avery, who gave her away at the altar. Mr. Gamers of Mobile presided at the organ and just before the nuptial blessing was pronounced Miss Katie Smith sang a marriage hymn.

The decorations on this occasion were both novel and beautiful. Upon a back ground of white was dotted here and there lovely pink carnations and ferns and forming an arch upon the same were evergreen wreaths of ancient design tied with bows of white satin ribbon; palms and pot plants were tastefully arranged upon the chancel, but the wedding bed under which the happy couple stood was the crowning beauty of the whole. Many remarked that it was the most brilliant of the kind ever seen—a lovely border of violets encircled the purity of the white carnations that formed the veil and the chaper was made of violets and white hyacinths. This beautiful creation was the work of Miss Violette Moreno, whose great success as a florist is now becoming widely known. Mr. and Mrs. Semmes left on the noon train for a bridal trip to New Orleans carrying with them the best wishes of their many friends. Very many beautiful and costly bridal presents gave evidence of the great esteem in which they were held.

The Married Ladies' Afternoon Euchre club, which usually meets on Tuesday, postponed their game of cards until Wednesday afternoon and were charmingly entertained by Mrs. Max Bear at her lovely home on North Barcelona street. The first prize, a cut-glass cream pitcher, was won by Mrs. Morris Bear. The next meeting will be held Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Morris Bear on R. E. Lee square.

Wedding bells again pealed forth on Wednesday evening, announcing the union of Miss Walker and Mr. Laird at Christ church, Rev. Percival Whaley officiating. This ceremony was beautiful in its perfect simplicity, the bride selecting the olden custom of going to the altar, leaning upon the arm of the groom, and when the question was asked, "Who giveth this woman to be married to this man?" the bride's father came forward and placed her hand in that of the groom, thus adding dignity and solemnity to the scene. Mr. and Mrs. Laird left on the early morning train for their new home, feeling assured that they had the best wishes and congratulations of their many friends in Pensacola.

The usual games of whist were indulged in at the Progress club Wednesday evening. Miss Danneheiser being the fortunate one and carrying off a pair of lovely bisque ornaments which were given as the prize for the best player for the evening.

Thursday evening one of the most charming receptions ever held in Pensacola was given by Mr. and Mrs. Willie Hyer to their guest, Miss DeVine, at their lovely home on West Belmont street. Invitations were extended from four until nine p. m. inclusive. The decorations were both profuse and beautiful, thus making the already attractive home a bower of enchantment. The hall looked lovely with its palms and white hyacinths, Marchal Neill roses graced the library, while rich tulips, roses and carnations added the brilliant coloring to the parlor. The dining room with its many tables was made fragrant and beautiful with violets in bouquets, violets in vases, in fact, violets scattered everywhere. Barrios' orchestra discoursed delightful music from an enclosed gallery, which entranced the ear. A bowl of delicious punch was decidedly "en evidence." All of these attractions, to which were added a suitable collation, not forgetting a charming host and hostess, filled up the measure of a delightful evening.

Mrs. F. W. Myrsh entertained the Married Ladies' Euchre club at her lovely home on Thursday evening. After many very delightful games, Mrs. Dr. Pierpont was found to have won the greatest number, so was presented with a beautiful real lace butterfly, an ornament for the hair; Mrs. Keiser winning the consolation, a wrought iron candle stick. Dr. Pierpont was the lucky man and was given a lovely cigar stand as first prize. Mr. Johnson of Philadelphia, a guest of the club, won a very pretty white broom holder, as consolation prize. A delicious supper was then served, which was thoroughly enjoyed.

Miss Ethel Maura entertained about twelve of her friends at afternoon tea on Friday. The many young ladies tried to make their needles keep time with their merry talk and laughter, so therefore accomplished a great deal on their fancy work. Dainty refreshments were enjoyed after the labor over the embroidery, drawn work, etc., the time then having arrived for the friends of Miss Maura to bid her a "good afternoon."

Mrs. Jules Oerting entertained the Ladies' Thursday Afternoon Euchre club. Mrs. Bingham won first prize, an embroidered picture frame; Mrs. Hutchinson, booby prize, a vase of violets. Miss Davis will entertain the club Tuesday evening of next week, and Mrs. Frank Pon will have the regular meeting at her home on Thursday afternoon.
